Спецификация АПИМ

Цель	Оценка учебных достижений
Функция АПИМ	Контроль, диагностика
Вид контроля	Текущий контроль знаний обучающихся. Возможно применение в рамках промежуточной аттестации и проверки остаточ-

	ных знаний
Модель АПИМ	Уровневая модель представлена в трех взаимосвязанных блоках заданий: – Блок 1. Задания на уровне «знать» в форме «выбор одного, двух и более правильных ответов из предложенных» выявляют в основном знаниевый компонент по дисциплине и оцениваются по бинарной шкале «правильно-неправильно»; – Блок 2. Задания на уровне «знать» и «уметь» в форме «установление соответствия (последовательности)», в которых нет явного указания на способ выполнения, для их решения обучающийся самостоятельно выбирает один из изученных способов. Задания данного блока позволяют оценить не только знания по дисциплине, но и умения пользоваться ими при решении стандартных, типовых задач; – Блок 3. Задания на уровне «знать», «уметь», «владеть» представлены в форме кейс-задания, содержание которого предполагает использование комплекса умений и навыков, для того чтобы обучающийся мог самостоятельно сконструировать способ решения, комбинируя известные ему способы и привлекая междисциплинарные знания. Кейс-задание представляет собой учебное задание, состоящее из описания реальной ситуации и совокупности сформулированных к ней вопросов. Выполнение обучающимся кейс-заданий требует решения поставленной проблемы (ситуации) в целом и проявления умения анализировать конкретную информацию, проследивать причинно-следственные связи, выделять ключевые проблемы и методы их решения. – Блок 4. Задания на уровне «знать», «уметь», «владеть» представлены в форме открытых вопросов, предполагающих краткий свободный ответ.

3.1	Read the text: If you think of the jobs robots could never do, you would probably put doctors and teachers at the top of the list. It's easy to imagine robot cleaners and factory workers, but some jobs need human connection and creativity. But are we underestimating what robots can do? In some cases, they already perform better than doctors at diagnosing illness. Also, some patients might feel more comfortable sharing personal information with a machine than a person. Could there be a place for robots in education after all? British education expert Anthony Seldon thinks so. And he even has a date for the robot takeover of the classroom: 2027. He predicts robots will do the main job of transferring information and teachers will be like assistants. Intelligent robots will read students' faces, movements and maybe even brain signals. Then they will adapt the information to each student. It's not a popular opinion and it's unlikely robots will ever have empathy and the ability to really connect with humans like another human can. One thing is certain, though. A robot teacher is better than no teacher at all. In some parts of the world, there aren't enough teachers and 9–16 per cent of children under the age	1.true 2.true 3.false 4.true 5.true 6.true of 14 don't go to school. That problem could be partly solved by robots because they can teach anywhere and won't get stressed, or tired, or move somewhere for an easier, higher-paid job. Those negative aspects of teaching are something everyone agrees on. Teachers all over the world are leaving because it is a difficult job and they feel overworked. Perhaps the question is not 'Will robots replace teachers?' but 'How can robots help teachers?' Office workers can use software to do things like organizing and answering emails, arrange meetings and update calendars. Teachers waste a lot of time doing non-teaching work, including more than 11 hours a week marking homework. If robots could cut the time teachers spend marking homework and writing reports, teachers would have more time and energy for the parts of the job humans do best. II. Are the sentences true or false? 1. Most jobs seem as if they can be done by robots or computers. 2. Robots are always better at diagnosing illness than doctors. 3. Many experts agree robots will replace teachers by 2027. 4. One advantage of robot teachers is that they don't need to rest. 5. Robot assistants could help teachers by marking homework. 6. Some teachers use robots to reduce their time answering emails and marking homework

Sole Trader This is the simplest form of company requiring no registration other than the notification of your local tax office, but it is also the type of business exposed to the greatest personal risk: as a sole trader, you are responsible for all aspects of the company, and have unlimited liability to all debts and legal actions. If the business has to fold with debts, you will have to settle these debts from your personal assets. You may find it more difficult to attract customers – you do not have to file accounts or records with Companies House, which leads to a lack of company transparency, and makes it impossible for potential customers to verify your background via an official third party. You may also find it more difficult to attract outside investment or partners, which can prevent the expansion of the business. Private Limited Company (Ltd) A private limited company is a legal entity in its own right, separate from those who own it, the shareholders. The limited liability, potential tax advantages, and simplicity of running a private limited company make this the most common form of registered business in the UK. As a shareholder of a private limited company, your personal possessions remain separate, and your risk is reduced to only the money you have invested in the company and any shares you hold which you have not yet paid for. In addition to limited liability, this form of company is also considered to be more prestigious by other companies and the general public due to its legitimate nature and the way important information is recorded at Companies House. Anyone wishing to do business with your limited company can verify who is connected to the company and also the financial position of the company by paying Companies House a small fee. You may not consider this transparency to be a benefit to you personally but it is a huge advantage when doing business. Public Limited Company (Plc) A public limited company differs from the private version in that it is able to sell its shares to the public. A public company	1.Sole Trade is the simplest form of a company 2.Public Limited Company better suits larger organizations. 3.Private Limited Company is the most common form of registered business. 4.It is the simplest form of business which requires no registration. must ensure that at least £50,000 worth of shares has been issued before it is allowed to begin business or borrow money, and two directors must be appointed. The cost of running a public limited company is considerably higher, and so this form of business suits better to large organizations. Limited Liability Partnership (LLP) This allows business partners to enjoy the benefit of limited liability, avoiding the problems of joint liability that applies to ordinary partnerships. There are no shares in this form of company, and tax arrangements remain the same as for ordinary partnerships. 1. What is the simplest form of a company? 2. Which form of business suits large organizations? 3. What is the most common form of registered business in the UK? 4. What are the advantages of being a sole trader?

1 Lisa is doing a history project at school. She wants to visit a general history museum before she decides what period of history to study. She's like to have a look at all the different times in history worldwide.

2 Marcus is going to a big museum with his family this weekend. He doesn't usually go to museums because he gets bored easily, but he's very interested in space. Marcus hopes they'll go to a museum that has plenty of equipment for him to use.

3 Ben, aged 8, and Erica, aged 12, are going to a museum with their aunt, Marilyn. Ben and Erica love learning new things and they really like doing creative activities. Luckily, Marilyn likes these things, too! She wants to find a museum that they can all enjoy together.

4 Yoko is interested in art and craft. She'd like to go to a small museum where she can see things being made and buy some unusual gifts for her friends.

5 Brother and sister, Robert and Meg, are trying to find out about the history of their great grandparents. They want to know more about what life was like for ordinary people in the 1920s and 1930s.

Robot teachers If you think of the jobs robots could never do, you would probably put doctors and teachers at the top of the list. It's easy to imagine robot cleaners and factory workers, but some jobs need human connection and creativity. But are we underestimating what robots can do? In some cases, they already perform better than doctors at diagnosing illness. Also, some patients might feel more comfortable sharing personal information with a machine than a person. Could there be a place for robots in education after all? British education expert Anthony Seldon thinks so. And he even has a date for the robot takeover of the classroom: 2027. He predicts robots will do the main job of transferring information and teachers will be like assistants. Intelligent robots will read students' faces, movements and maybe even brain signals. Then they will adapt the information to each student. It's not a popular opinion and it's unlikely robots will ever have empathy and the ability to really connect with humans like another human can. One thing is certain, though. A robot teacher is better than no teacher at all. In some parts of the world, there aren't enough teachers and 9–16 per cent of children under the age of 14 don't go to school. That problem could be partly solved by robots because they can teach anywhere and won't get stressed, or tired, or move somewhere for an easier, higher-paid job. Those negative aspects of teaching are something everyone agrees on. Teachers all over the world are leaving because it is a difficult job and they feel overworked. Perhaps the question is not 'Will robots replace teachers?' but 'How can robots help teachers?' Office workers can use software to do things like organise and answer emails, arrange meetings and update calendars. Teachers waste a lot of time doing non-teaching work, including more than 11 hours a week marking homework. If robots could cut the time teachers spend marking homework and writing reports, teachers would have more time and energy for the parts of the job humans do best.

II. Are the sentences true or false?

1. Most jobs seem as if they can be done by robots or computers.
2. Robots are always better at diagnosing illness than doctors.
3. Many experts agree robots will replace teachers by 2027.
4. One advantage of robot teachers is that they don't need to rest.
5. Robot assistants could help teachers by marking homework.
6. Some teachers use robots to reduce their time answering emails and marking home-

work
